

WHERE THE MUSIC of AMERICAN COMMUNITY COMES ALIVE

The Levitt Foundation is dedicated to invigorating community life through the power of free, live music and positioning the arts as a key component to healthy communities. We believe:

- Everyone—including those who cannot afford the cost of a concert for themselves or their families—should have access to high quality live music experiences, which is why Levitt concerts are free, family-friendly and feature acclaimed, emerging talent and seasoned, award-winning artists.
- Music inspires cultural understanding, a shared sense of community, and tolerance among people of all ages and backgrounds, which is why Levitt concert series feature a broad range of music genres from world music, country, classical, rock, jazz and funk to Latin, zydeco, Americana, hip-hop, children's shows, blues and more.
- Professional musicians deserve to earn a decent living. While Levitt concerts are free, all Levitt artists are paid a competitive fee for their performances on a Levitt stage.

As the only national network of outdoor performance spaces presenting free concerts, permanent Levitt venues and Levitt AMP concert sites inspire the best of American life by bringing people together in welcoming, open lawn settings where they can discover new worlds—and each other—through music.

Permanent Levitt venues each present 50 free concerts annually and Levitt AMP sites each present 10 free concerts during the summer or fall. For booking inquiries, please contact each directly. levitt.org/locations
